

Sprout Festival Stars Shine on the Silver Screen

Save the Date!!

You're about to experience a whole new world of entertainment this spring as The Arc of Arizona brings its first-ever Sprout Touring Film Festival to the ASU West campus on Friday, April 17th!

A celebration of films featuring, and sometimes created by, individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities (I/DD), Sprout films are an enjoyable and enlightening way to help break down stereotypes about the lives, interests and talents of persons with I/DD.

Unlike the caricatures of people with disabilities familiar to most moviegoers, the Sprout festival offers accurate, nuanced portrayals of people with developmental disabilities.

"For many people, the only representations of this population on film are Sean Penn, Cuba Gooding, Jr., or Juliette Lewis playing the role of someone with a developmental disability," says Anthony Di Salvo, founder of the Sprout Film Festival. "We'd like to change that."

The 2015 Sprout Touring Film Festival includes screening of eight to ten short films in 90 minutes – some poignant, some fascinating, all memorable. Following the films, Mr. Di Salvo will lead a Q&A session for audience members.

Festival screenings take place at 1:00 pm and 7:00 pm on April 17th in the University Center Building-La Sala Ballroom at ASU West. For more information or to purchase tickets, call The Arc of Arizona at (602) 234-2721 or visit www.arcarizona.org. To learn more about the Sprout Touring Film Festival, visit www.sprouttouringfilmfestival.org.

Disability Issues Front-and-Center in 2015 Legislature

Arizona legislators have their plates full this session trying to cope with the state’s fiscal woes, but budgets for coming years cannot be balanced on the backs of those least able to fight for themselves. Your voice is a powerful force to ensure our elected officials make the right choices for residents with disabilities.

Gov. Doug Ducey’s proposed budget for Fiscal Year 2016 contains improvements for Arizonans with I/DD, such as reinstating preventative and emergency dental care for ALTCS recipients. The Arc of Arizona is hard at work advocating for this and other vital measures – among them creating a publicly available online registry of persons classified as abusers by Adult Protective Services (H2021) and reinstating emergency dental care for adults receiving AHCCCS benefits (H2492). Both issues affect a large number of Arizonans with I/DD.

Make your voice heard by contacting your State Senator and Representatives today. Let them know their decisions affect thousands of constituents with I/DD – constituents who count on them to protect resources they vitally need. For information on how to reach the representatives from your district, visit www.azleg.gov.

Wings for Autism® Soars!

The Arc of Arizona’s inaugural Wings for Autism® airport rehearsal last October was a rousing success – for our airline and airport partners, for our sponsors, and for the 275 children and parents who participated in this life-changing event. Hosting the largest Wings to date anywhere in the U.S., The Arc, Sky Harbor International Airport, and American Airlines and Southwest Airlines were able to provide an experience few will soon forget. Families in attendance called it “awesome”, “perfect”, and “wonderful”. Kudos to the airport and airline staffs, donors, and dozens of volunteers who gave so generously of their time and talents. Your compassion, patience, and understanding did not go unnoticed!

Planning is already underway for our 2015 Wings for Autism event. Look for information coming to The Arc of Arizona website and newsletter in early summer.

You have given us hope that after 9 years, we can finally take a family vacation!

The Arc of Arizona Welcomes 3 New Board Members

We couldn’t be more pleased to welcome three new members to The Arc of Arizona’s Board of Directors for 2015-2016 – each of whom brings unique talents to The Arc’s advocacy and education work on behalf of Arizonans with I/DD:

Kim Dorshaw serves as program director for Fenix Group, a multifaceted disability services provider in the Phoenix area. She has worked in the disabilities field for the past 13 years in Pennsylvania and Arizona.

Michael Leyva is grant/contracts coordinator for the Arizona Developmental Disabilities Planning Council. He comes to the disabilities arena after a distinguished career in business development and banking.

Dr. Susan Marks is a professor of special education at Northern Arizona University where she teaches in the special education teacher preparation program. Through her more than 35-year career in the special education/developmental disabilities field she has been a classroom teacher, innovation researcher, and residential program director.
